

MCUAAAR Mondays

May 11, 2020

To reduce the number of messages sent out to the MCUAAAR 5 Listserv, if you send me the kind of information found below, I will compile it and send it out on "MCUAAAR Mondays"

EVENTS

Still Time to Register ! Webinar, May 15th @ noon ET -"Getting the most out of your mentoring relationships," with Dr. Roger Fillingim. On May 15 at 9am PST, Roger B. Fillingim, PhD, Clinical Psychologist, Distinguished Professor in the University of Florida and Director of the UF RCMAR will discuss various mentoring topics, including characteristics of effective mentors and mentees, and actions of effective mentors during a free webinar. The critical roles of communication and aligning expectations will also be discussed. Register here to participate: https://zoom.us/webinar/register/4715870754794/WN_QQ16nN-mQoSkgLTcvWIOKw

Webinar, May 22, 2020, @ 10:00am ET COVID-19 and Black Lives: The Crisis Within the Crisis

The poster is green with white and black text. At the top left is the Michigan State University logo. To its right is the text "SOCIAL WORK CONTINUING EDUCATION". Below this, the word "Webinar" is written in a large font. The main title "COVID-19 and Black Lives: The Crisis Within the Crisis" is in a bold font. Below the title, the date "May 22, 2020" and time "10:00-11:00am ET" are listed. A paragraph of text describes the webinar's focus on health disparities and racism. Below this, the faculty name "James Bell III, DSW-C, MSW" is given, followed by a short bio. On the left, there is a small photo of James Bell III. To the right of the photo is a circular icon with "1 CECH available". Further right, registration information is provided: "To register: social.work.msu.edu/cs" and "Follow instructions for online registration". At the bottom right, pricing is listed: "Free for general audience" and "$25 for those requesting continuing education contact hours. See registration for rates".

T32 Precision Lifestyle Medicine and Translation Research (PREMIER) Postdoctoral Training Program

The University of Illinois at Chicago (UIC) is one of the nation's most dynamic, diverse, and progressive enterprises of higher education and health affairs. The PREMIER training program for postdoctoral fellows at UIC harnesses the University's vibrant academic environment, highly diverse faculty and student bodies, and substantial synergistic programs, infrastructure and resources, to maximize its fellows' ability to succeed in their paths towards independent lifestyle medicine researchers of the future. Precision lifestyle medicine, which integrates behavioral science with mechanistic investigation and modern technology, affords the promise of providing precise, proactive, and personalized care for individuals with or at risk of multiple chronic conditions. At the same time, research on health behavior and behavior change that spans the spectrum of translation to humans (T1), to patients (T2), to practice (T3), and to population health (T4) is pivotal to achieve ultimate public health impact. <https://chicago.medicine.uic.edu/departments/academic-departments/medicine/academic-internal-medicine-and-geriatrics/premier-t32/>

CONGRATULATIONS!

Toni Antonucci, MCFAAD Co-Director was awarded the 2020 Association for Psychological Science Mentor Award. The award recognizes psychology researchers and educators who have shaped the future directions of science by fostering the careers of students and colleagues. The award honors the importance of mentoring in the field as well as the dedication and impact of individuals with a distinguished record of teaching, advising, and encouraging students and colleagues who go on to have productive and influential research careers.

RESOURCES

From the Deep South Resource Center for Minority Aging Research:

Community members train doctors on culturally appropriate palliative care

by Holly Gainer

<https://www.uab.edu/news/research/item/10969-community-members-train-doctors-on-culturally-appropriate-palliative-care>

Community members from Beaufort, South Carolina, trained palliative care physicians on how to have culturally appropriate conversations with their patients based on their backgrounds and ethnicities.